

Miner's lamp lights way again

The Choppington Miner's Lamp shines again after nearly half a century. Maurice Large holds the Miner's Lamp which was used as a chalice in the now-closed Choppington Unitarian Church. Maurice was able to get the broken lamp to light again and it will shine in its new home – the Church of the Divine Unity Newcastle upon Tyne.